

Psychological Test and Assessment Modeling

Volume 67, 2025

Klaus D. Kubinger (Eds.)

CONTENTS

- 3 Discrimination between types of common systematic variation in data contaminated by method effects using CFA models
Karl Schweizer
- 23 Academic and Social Profiles of Adolescents with Autism
Christiane Lange-Küttner
- 45 Treating Rapid Responses as Errant Improves Reliability of Estimates for Test Performance for NAEP
Daniel B. Wright and Sarah M. Wolff
- 67 Development and Factorial Validation of the Rapid Assessment Test of Individual Misconceptions About Giftedness (RATIMAG)
Merve İrem Ercan & Albert Ziegler
- 90 Applicability of Process Models for the Joint Analysis of Responses and Response Times in Complex Cognitive Tasks
Raimund J. Krämer, Jochen Ranger, Marco Koch, Frank M. Spinath, Florian Schmitz
- 127 Modeling Local Item Dependence in PIRLS 2016: Comparing ePIRLS and Paper-Based PIRLS Using the Rasch Testlet Model
Purya Baghaei, Hamdollah Ravand & Rolf Strietholt
- 141 Equivalent Selective Attention Scores From Different Digital Devices: On the Fairness of Assessments Designed for Smartphones, Tablets, and Desktop Computers
Isabell Baldauf, Maximilian O. Steininger, Georg Mandler & Marco Vetter
- 166 On the bias of Andersen's conditional Like-lihood Ratio test for the Rasch model given data sampled according to adaptive testing
Klaus D. Kubinger